

Doha-Golf Course (Qatar)

Albert Hockey

Albert Hockey, the step father of Don Harradine, re-modelled his first course in 1920.

Don Harradine established Harradine Golf by designing his first course in Switzerland in 1929.

Harradine Golf have designed, constructed and/or supervised the construction and/or re-modelled over 200 Golf Courses in Europe, Africa, Asia and the Middle East.

Projects have been situated in every type of terrain: from arid, rocky, dry, hot and saline deserts, to wet, humid, temperate and cold grasslands, mountains, waste tips, agricultural fields, sea-sides, and up to altitudes of 1850 meters!

The "Harradine" policy and concept relies on the natural preservation and enhancement of existing sites so that the characteristic and original attributes are improved or enhanced in order to create a unique course for that particular location and not just a copy of one of their courses built elsewhere.

"The site must speak to the architect and he must follow the instructions given to him by the surrounding landscape. He must not try to impose his "style" or "signature" unless the land will accept it."

"I always compare the integration of a golf course into the surrounding environment to a heart transplant: the site must not reject it!"
